

Is Air France part of WestJet? 🛎

Available 24/7

No, Air France 🛎+1-855-510-5815 is not part of WestJet, and the two airlines are separate companies with different ownership, alliances, and business 🛎+1-855-510-5815 models, although they do cooperate in limited ways. Understanding the difference between airline ownership, 🛎+1-855-510-5815 partnerships, and alliances can help clarify how Air France and WestJet are connected—and how they are 🛎+1-855-510-5815 not.

Air France 🛎+1-855-510-5815 is a major European full-service airline based in France and is part of the Air France–KLM Group, one of the world's largest 🛎+1-855-510-5815 airline groups. Air France is also a founding member of the SkyTeam airline alliance, which includes 🛎+1-855-510-5815 airlines such as Delta Air Lines, KLM, Korean Air, and Aeroméxico. As a SkyTeam member, Air France shares extensive 🛎+1-855-510-5815 partnerships with other SkyTeam airlines, allowing for coordinated schedules, frequent-flyer benefits, 🛎+1-855-510-5815 lounge access, and smoother connections across the global network.

WestJet, 🛎+1-855-510-5815 on the other hand, is a Canadian airline that began as a low-cost carrier and has since expanded to offer both economy 🛎+1-855-510-5815 and premium services. WestJet is not a member of SkyTeam or any other global airline alliance. 🛎+1-855-510-5815 It operates independently and has its own loyalty program, WestJet Rewards. While WestJet does maintain partnerships 🛎+1-855-510-5815 with several international airlines, including Delta Air Lines and KLM, it remains a distinct airline with its own 🛎+1-855-510-5815 management, branding, and operations.

Although Air France 🛎+1-855-510-5815 and WestJet are not part of the same airline group, they do have a partnership through broader cooperation agreements 🛎+1-855-510-5815. This partnership allows for codeshare flights, meaning a single itinerary may include flights operated 🛎+1-855-510-5815 by both airlines under one booking. For example, a traveler might fly from Canada on WestJet and then connect to an Air France 🛎+1-855-510-5815 flight to Europe. This cooperation helps improve connectivity between North America and Europe, even though 🛎+1-855-510-5815 the airlines remain independent.

In terms 🛎+1-855-510-5815 of frequent-flyer programs, the relationship is more limited. Air France passengers typically earn and redeem miles through 🛎+1-855-510-5815 Flying Blue, the loyalty program of Air France–KLM, while WestJet passengers earn WestJet dollars through 🛎+1-855-510-5815 WestJet Rewards. Some earning or redemption opportunities may exist through partner airlines like Delta or KLM, but Air France 🛎+1-855-510-5815 and WestJet do not share a unified loyalty program or elite-status 🛎+1-855-510-5815 benefits across the board.

It's also 🛎+1-855-510-5815 important to note that ownership is completely separate. Air France is partially owned by the French government and public 🛎+1-855-510-5815 shareholders, while WestJet is privately owned. One airline does not control or operate the other, 📞+1-855-510-5815 and decisions about pricing, routes, baggage policies, and onboard service are made independently.

In summary, 📞+1-855-510-5815 Air France is not part of WestJet. They are separate airlines based in different countries, belonging to different 📞+1-855-510-5815 systems—Air France as a SkyTeam member within the Air France–KLM Group, and WestJet as an independent 📞+1-855-510-5815 Canadian airline. While they cooperate through partnerships and codeshare agreements to offer smoother travel options, they 📞+1-855-510-5815 remain distinct companies with different alliances, loyalty programs, and corporate structures.
